Statement in Support of Unintentional Delay

Sir:

The below signed attorney for the Applicant hereby states that the delay in filing the petition for revival of the application and in replying to the Notice of Missing Parts was entirely unintentional. The attorney only became aware of the abandonment when he reviewed the status of the application on the PAIR database. The attorney in reviewing the status of the application on August 12, 2004 for purposes of preparing the application for transferring the above-identified application to another law firm discovered that the application had been held abandoned. The attorney had not received a Notice of Abandonment in this application and was unaware that the response to the Notice of Missing Parts had not been filed. The response had not been filed due to error in properly docketing the response. The failure to properly docket even though the docket clerk had been trained was inadvertent and unintentional. This coupled with the failure to receive the Notice of Abandonment has resulted in the present situation.

Respectfully submitted,
